

COMPETENCE POLICY

ARGYLL Ltd. provides quality Non Destructive Testing (NDT), Radioanalytical Services, and Structural Integrity Assessment Services using an integrated and fully functioning management system (MS).

The MS ensures competency by the following means (but not limited to):

- effective policies to provide leadership and guidance
- effective procedural information to establish standards of performance that can be measured
- implementing strategies and allocating resources as applicable to seek new methods
- selecting appropriately skilled and competent staff and contractors
- identifying the methodology and quality measurables in which tasks are to be performed
- providing a work environment and equipment suitable to carry out the work in a compliant way

ARGYLL Ltd. Further promotes the improvement of competence through:

- continuance of training programmes
- management review and evaluation of all initiatives and schemes to improve competence
- peer & client reviews
- internal and external audits of standards, facilities and services
- formal competency checks (e.g. certification, computer-based and self-assessment tools)
- safety observation and incident investigation reports detailing MS improvements